DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 19-36 allowed.
2. Claims 3-5, 7 and 9-18 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1, 2, 6 and 8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimizu (6,122,414) in view of Skeie (5,675,673) further in view of Tokano et al. (5,815,610) further in view of Nakabayashi (6,334,008).

Regarding Claims 1, 2, 6 and 8, Shimizu discloses a semiconductor Mach-Zehnder modulator where a Mach-Zehnder modulator comprises a pair of phase modulator arm waveguides and a single driver for a push-pull modulation. A first electrode connected to p-type cladding layer of first modulator arm is maintained at a negative potential, a second electrode connected to n-type cladding layer of first modulator arm and p-type cladding layer of second modulator arm is driven by a drive voltage and a third electrode connected to n-type cladding layer of second modulator arm is maintained at a ground potential. Shimizu fails to disclose the required electrode, wire, and electrode-wire relationship. However, Skeie discloses an integrated optic modulator with segmented electrodes and sloped waveguides where the required electrode structure is disclosed. Furthermore, Tokano et al. disclose a optical modulation system where the required wire structure is disclosed. Finally, Nakabayashi discloses an optical circuit and method of fabricating the same where the required electrode-wire relationship is disclosed.

It would have been obvious to one of having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include the required electrode, wire and electrode/wire relationship in Shimizu as taught by Skeie, Tokano et al., and Nakabayashi respectively in order to have an optical semiconductor device with higher performance.
